Forecast For Southwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Saturday 19 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Dry this morning but turning showery thereafter.

Today:
Dry with sunny spells during the morning. Turning cloudy during the afternoon as showers move in from the south. These possibly heavy at times but separated by drier conditions in central areas, where some sunny spells may return later. Maximum temperature 20 deg C (68 deg F).

Tonight:
Clouding over through the evening with showers spreading to all areas. Showers turning heavy overnight with a slight risk of thunder. Fog patches may form under any prolonged clear spells. Minimum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Sunday:
Showery conditions continue through Sunday, with eastern and northern areas receiving the heaviest, most frequent, downpours. Generally cloudy, though occasional sunny spells are possible, more so along the south coast. Maximum temperature 20 deg C (68 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Cloudy with frequent showers on Monday, some of which could be heavy and possibly generate thunder. Drier on Tuesday although showers still possible. Sunny spells and a few showers Wednesday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.